BOLLING FISCAL AGENT.

Tendered Appointment.

The following special telegram to the Times-Dispatch from New York tells of the career of a former well known Richmonder, until a year or two ago engaged in business in this city:

engaged in business in this city:

It is just announced here that Wyndham Bolling & Company have been appointed fiscal agents of a large syndicate of patriotic Buenos Ayres financiers and capitalists, who under government franchises are officially engaged in promoting closor and more extensive traderelations with the United States, and especially with the Southern States. The appointment was tendered Mr. Bolling by Salvador A. Pratto, a distinguished and wealthy physician of Montevideo, Uruguay, who is now consul of the Argentine Republic at St. Louis. Pratto's New York bankers are Ladenburg, Thalmann & Co.

and Observations.

Stev. R. H. Pitt, D. D., who is attending the World's Baptist Congress in London, England, writes a most interesting account of his observations and experiences in that city as a editorial letter in the Religious Heruld. He gives a glowing and fascinating account of his visit to the British Museum where he saw the famous Eligh statuary and many autograph writings of famous English literati. He describes in appropriate terms his visit to Bunfield Fleids, the renowned English Methodist cemetery, where lies the dust of many devotel followers of that faith.

Of English hospitality, sometimes or renocously described as cold and formal, he writes a most appreciative account, showing that the English can dispense as good and entertaining hospitality, to guests, as was ever shown in the old lighted with his trip, and his experiences among his English cousins.

MALLS GROUND FOR A SMALLPOX SCARE

Residents of Oregon Hill Section Ask and Are Given Guards. Cases to Date.

There is not a case of smallpox in the city at this time, the last of those having the disease being taken to the pest hous there are three patients ill in hed with the disease, and several are walking about the place with varifold.

Two guards were yesterday ordered to patrol that section of the city south of Spring Street and east of Belvidere Street, where citizens have been exposed to the disease.

Street, where citizens have been exposed to the disease.

Dr. W. T. Oppenheimer, President of the Board of Health, and Mayor McCarthy held a conference yesterday morning and decided that it was imperative to have the guards placed on the infected section of Oregon Hill to see that no one entered the houses that were quarantined.

According to Dr. Oppenheimer, the scare is ungrounded. There is no danger now of a spread of the disease—no more danger that there always is when smallpox breaks out in a vicinity. Mr. John W. Foster and his sister, Mrs. Nora L. Snyder, have died from the disease. Foster was taken with the malady at his home, 566 Spring Street. While nursing him, Mrs. Snyder was infected and died Tuesday, at No. 12 1-2 Maiden Lane.

A delegation of citizens from Oregon Hill called upon Mayor McCarthy yesterday morning and asked for protection from a possible spread of smallpox in the neighborhood. Among those in the party were Messrs. A. T. Davis, E. J. Hogun, J. W. Glenn, J. B. Peters, J. B. Kidd, G. Syele, Robert Olive, G. A. Cardona, Patrick Sullivan, George Riley and

IS DISCUSSED

PROGRESS IN SURVEY WORK

Geologists Have Secured Valuable Information for the Reports.

Immigration work and geological work were the principal topics discussed by the State Board of Agriculture and Immigration, which held its regular quarterly meeting here yesterday.

Every member of the board was pres ent, they being Messrs. Beverley, Mauck, Eggborn, Goodwin, Leech and Dr. Mc-Bryde. Commissioner Koiner, as usual, attended the session. President Heater called the body to order.

Mr. Plerce Hicks, upon invitation of Mr. Beverley, chairman of the Immigration Committee, appeared before the board. Mr. Hicks is from Mathews county, and his presence before the body was to give some information he had gathered in regard to the immigration question. The effort to introduce into his tion. The effort to introduce into his section Italians from the northern part of Italy had not been successful. The wage wanted for this class of labor was too high—more than the farmers could afford to pay. Mr. Hicks said that he thought the State would have to employ immigration agents to represent them in the countries from which they desired labor. Mr. Hicks made a most interesting talk, showing that he was well posted in regard to the subject.

Dr. Thomas L. Watson, who has charge of the survey work being done, reported that much progress had been made, and reports were rapidly being gotten in shape for the press. Indeed, one of these reports was even now ready for the binders, it having passed the printer's hands. Dr. Watson said there would be about seven bulletins published. These would be of vast benefit to the State, as they would furnish just the information desired of the capitalist who was seeking to develop properties that gave evidence of their value.

Dr. Reis, of Cornell University, has been doing field work in Virginia all the summer, investigating the clays, which, he said, in value always ranked next to iron and coal. A report covering the ground thus far gone over would be published in the early fall.

Commissioner Koiner submitted his financial report, which was received.

Mr. Barker, chairman of the test farm, submitted his report. It showed that the crops upon the farm were in splendid condition.

Mr. Beveriey, chairman of the Immigration Committee, asked that his committee be granted until the next meeting to make a detailed report. He thought at that meeting the committee would have something definite to report. The immigration question was a big Geological Work.

Social Hour.

An atmosphere of cordiality and bon homite pervaded the spacious hall of R. E. Lee Camp, No. 1, last night, when the visiting veterans of the Seventi Georgia Regiment, accompanied by quite a number of ladies, clasped hands with their Virginia brothers. These visitors have been callyoning their past recollections of the bloody civil conflict by touring the lilstoric battlefields of Manassas, Bull Run, Chancellorsville, Cold Harbor, Seven Pines and Fredericksburg, and as a fit conclusion to their itinerary, have spent two days in Richmond, the capital city of the Confeder-They leave to-day for Petersburg

Straton.

Mr. W. J. Hudson, of Georgia, spoke next. His theme was the glorification of that sentiment that had unified the Southern States—that sentiment, which, as he said, "rules the world."

A most enjoyable address from Rev. J. William Jones followed. The speech was mainly historical, and was embellished throughout by apt and witty anecdotes. "The Confederates," Dr. Jones quoted, "were not conquered, but wearled out with victory."

At the request of Adjutant Stratton that some of Georgia's fair sex would favor the camp with their musical talent, a young lady of that State went to the plane and rendered delightfully a soft southern air, which was received with enthusiastic applicate. Of course, "Dixie" came next.

Mrs. N. V. Randolph, president of the Richmond Chapter of the Daughters of the Confederacy, arose to remind the camp that it was high time the gentiemen stopped talking, and that the camp should be adjourned and the "experience" meeting held forthwith. This was done soon afterward.

Just before the camp was adjourned, however, Adjutant Stratton made a few remarks. He recounted the story of the young man who wrote on the seashore, "Agnes, I love you," which words were erased by the treacherous wind and waves. "R. E. Lee Camp, No. 1," said Captain Stratton, "would dip a Norway pine in the lava of Vesuvius and inscribe upon the blue vault of heaven: 'Georgians, we love you."

Drs. A. C. North, of Georgia, and Joseph W. Eggleston, of this city; Captains I. N. Nash and Curtis, and Messrs.

L. N. McChee and Lafayette Chuff, of Georgia, spoke forcefully.

Every seat in the hall was occupied. At 10:20 P. M. the camp adjourned and love and amity held absolute sway.
